"We'll Wait And See What Happens," Bankhead Says As Bill Fails

COAL MINERS WATCHED

Barkley Sees Measure As Club Behind Door Of Upper House

WASHINGTON, April 8—The senate farm bloc today gave President Roosevelt notice that it will launch a fresh drive for higher prices unless demands for industrial wage boosts are denied.

This declaration followed failure of the farm bloc move to override the Presidential veto on the Bankhead bill, which would prohibit deduction of farm benefit payments in fixing ceiling prices.

The senate referred the veto message to the agriculture committee by a vote of 62 to 23 after a poll showed that the bill could not be passed over a veto. Sen. John H. Bankhead (D., Ala., author of the bill, made the motion.

"We will wait a while and see what happens," said Bankhead. "If they go ahead increasing wages and other costs, we will bring the bill up again."

Inflation Issue Shifts

Thus the inflation issue, temporarily at least, shifted to the battle of John L. Lewis for a $2-a-day increase for his coal miners and other demands by labor on the war labor board for wage boosts.

While the inability of the farm bloc to muster a two-thirds vote to override the veto was regarded as a smashing victory for the President in the senate, Democratic Senate Leader Barkley was dissatisfied.

He likened referring the Bankhead bill to committee as "a club behind the door," which could be pulled out by the farm bloc at any time.

"A straight out vote to uphold the President's veto would have been more helpful in the anti-inflation fight," he said.

Some senators, including Sen. Vandenberg (R), Mich., characterized the move as a "back door" (Continued on Page Two)

THREE FLIERS CRASH VICTIMS AT BAER FIELD

COLUMBUS, April 8—Three fliers were killed and two others injured, one seriously, when an enemy bomber crashed on a take-off from Baer field, near Ft. Wayne, Ind., public relation officers at the nearby Lockbourne Air Base announced today.

The plane left the Lockbourne field at 9:30 p. m. yesterday and crashed about two hours later. Cause of the accident was unknown. Officials said the plane burned after crashing.

Names of those killed were withheld pending notification of next of kin. Lieut. E. Pokral, pilot of the B-17, was seriously injured. The other crew member, whose name was not learned immediately, escaped with minor injuries.

WMC Aims New Rule At Million Men of Draft Age on U. S. Payrolls

WASHINGTON, April 8—Faced with estimates that more than 54,000 government workers have obtained draft deferments, the War Manpower Commission today planned to issue new regulations that will send many of the 1,000,000 men between the ages of 18 and 38 now on the federal payroll into the army.

Within the next few days, it was learned, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, National Selective Service director, will issue at the request of the WMC instructions to all local draft boards to deny deferments to federal workers unless they are given so-called "certificates of government request."

The action was recommended on March 10 by a committee appointed by President Roosevelt to investigate reports that the government was a "haven for draft dodgers."

"Few Slackers"

The committee, headed by Paul Bellamy, Cleveland editor, found that "slackers are few" in the government, but charged that federal bureaus were not using "the vigor necessary" to replace draft eligible men with women and older and handicapped workers.

The Bellamy report also recommended creation of a committee to streamline and coordinate draft machinery governing deferments of federal employees. The latter committee, composed of Robert Barnett of the WMC, Kenneth V. Barnett of the U. S. Civil Service, and Col. Edward A. Fitzpatrick of national draft headquarters, is using the Bellamy report as its guidebook.

The report declared that "it is estimated that approximately 1,000,000 federal employees are men of the ages from 18 to 37, inclusive." It also fixed the percentage of deferments among the 3,000,000 federal workers at 1 4/5 percent and added that at the time it made its investigation there were about 110,000 government employees in class 1-A.

Relisting Looms

With other regulations governing the order of induction for fathers to be announced within two weeks, the instructions regarding the "certificates of government request" will affect reclassification of all government workers.

In the instructions, local boards will be notified that federal bureaus will appeal the cases of men holding certificates if the boards do not honor them. However, the absence of a certificate will be evidence that a federal worker is not in a key position and therefore subject to the draft. The certificates will be issued by special committees within government departments.

Members of the Barnett-Vipond-Fitzpatrick committee indicated that they expect some startling developments as a result of its investigation within the next two weeks. It has ordered all government bureaus, including the war department with its 800,000 male civilian employees, to report on the number of draft deferments they have obtained for workers. It was forecast that when all of the reports are compiled the number will go far beyond the 54,000 estimate.

Patrick Stephen Hardesty, 18, of Richmond Dale, O., driver of the log-hauling truck which collided with the automobile carrying the three women, was exonerated of second degree manslaughter charges last week when the grand jury refused to indict him. Whether another charge will be brought since the death of Mrs. Justus is not known.

The chief said that motorists who have not yet bought license stickers face arrest.

STEELMAN HOLDS HOPE

Conciliator Says Agreement Is Possibility Despite Apparent Deadlock

NEW YORK, April 8—A new crisis was reached today in the wage negotiations between the United Mine Workers and bituminous coal mine operators in the Northern and Southern Appalachian regions.

Both the northern and southern operators sought to place the dispute in the hands of the National War Labor Board over the opposition of John L. Lewis, president of the Mine Workers union.

Immediate certification of the dispute to the labor board also was opposed by Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the United States Conciliation Service and President Roosevelt's personal representative at the conferences.

Steelman hopeful

Dr. Steelman maintained that an agreement was still possible although the operators contend that the negotiations are hopelessly deadlocked. Steelman admitted however that the "conferences were in a bad way."

Dr. Steelman conferred in New York with Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor but Miss Perkins declined comment.

"They are going to meet again, that's all I can say," Miss Perkins declared.

Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the northern operators disclosed the "deadlock" in the negotiations between the union and northern operators. He announced that it was the intention of the operators to "notify all government agencies that we can't consummate an agreement here."

He said the notification would (Continued on Page Two)

CHILD SLAYER REGRETS HE DID NOT SHOOT SELF

PITTSBURGH, April 8—Earl Perry, 17, confessed slayer of curly-haired Theresa Williams, four-year-old neighbor's child, sat in his cell today and pointed a finger at his head in simulation of a gun and expressed the wish he had "ended it all this way."

It was the only sign of remorse exhibited by Perry, a three-time parolee, in his lengthy and macabre recitation to police as to how he lured the blond youngster to the cellar of his home and choked her to death early yesterday.

His voice unshaken throughout a recorded two-hour confession, Perry freely admitted strangling and then criminally assaulting "Cici," as Theresa was known in the neighborhood, after persuading the child to accompany him to his basement by promising her three pennies and a piece of candy.

Following the attack, the confession continued, Perry scooped out a shallow grave in the dirt floor of the cellar and buried the little girl.

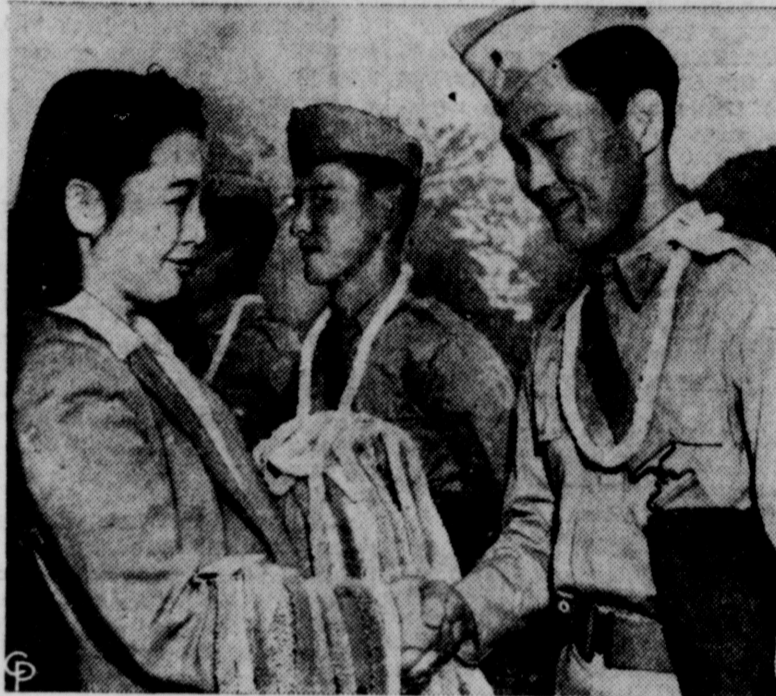

He then poured water over the dirt, stepped on it to hide traces of the grave and washed his hands, to the story concluded.

Theresa's body—clad in tattered overalls and white shoes—was found in the Perry cellar by her father, Adolph Williams. The discovery climaxed a 10-hour house-to-house search for the girl in which Perry joined to allay suspicion.

House Democrats Face Defeat in Attempt To Revise Pay-As-Go Tax

WASHINGTON, April 8—Efforts by 39 House Democrats to win immediate reconsideration of pay-as-you-go tax legislation appeared doomed today as a majority of the ways and means committee continued to insist that the issue not be taken up again until a new revenue bill is written this summer.

The Democratic group, headed by Reps. Anderson of New Mexico and Voorhis of California, are circulating a round-robin letter to the committee's chairman, Rep. Doughton (D) N. C., asking that the house be given a chance to vote on a compromise.

The letter points out that after rejecting the Ruml plan, the membership received no opportunity to vote on several pending compromise plans before it sidetracked the whole issue and referred it back to the ways and means committee.

Doughton said today that so far as he knew the committee would not alter its plans to take up the question of reciprocal trade agreements at its next order of business.

Other ranking Democrats continued to hold little hope for reconsideration of pay-as-you-go legislation although they said it was possible that a bill providing for a withholding levy on pay-envelopes might be passed in the next few weeks.

It was pointed out that axis plans for defending the continent must have been worked out long ago. As a result, official circles were inclined to discredit the report.

(The British radio earlier had quoted reports from Switzerland saying that Hitler and Mussolini were planning a Brenner pass meeting. The broadcast was made in Polish and recorded by the F. C. C.)

"According to news from Switzerland," it said, "Hitler and Mussolini will again meet at the Brenner pass. This time the subject of their conference will be the measures which have to be taken for the defense of Europe against the allies."

A Reuter dispatch from Zurich quoted Rome reports stating that Hitler had refused an urgent plea from Mussolini to discuss the plight of Italy. Hitler, it was said, replied that he could not leave the front in Russia. Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop or another high Nazi official is expected to meet with Mussolini instead, it was added.

The announcement was made as Eden went before the House of Commons to report on his recent mission to Washington during which he conferred with President Roosevelt and other American officials.

Eden said that he had invited Secretary Hull to visit Britain with approval of Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

He told commons that his discussions in the United States covered a wide scope.

Operational matters and immediate questions concerned with the conduct of the war were considered.

"I think the premier was satisfied with the progress made," Eden said.

HENDERSON MUM

Pace Bill Draws Fire Of Brown

Collapse Of Price Control Seen If Parity Law Is Approved

WASHINGTON, April 8—Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown today told the senate agriculture committee that price control may collapse if the Pace farm parity bill becomes law.

Brown declared that the bill, which redefines parity prices to include all farm labor costs, would boost the parity price on farm products 14 percent and smash many existing price ceilings.

"My task would be made more difficult—indeed, it well might become impossible—if the bill before this committee were to become law," he said.

Brown, a former senator, said that he opposed the Pace bill because of the danger of inflation.

"A 10 percent rise in the cost of living at this time, it has been said, is worth 10 divisions to the axis," said Brown. "I am convinced that this is true."

"Such a rise would not only reduce by 10 percent the standard of living of millions of our people, including the dependents of men at the front. It would unleash a scramble for self-advancement among individuals and groups, an ugly scramble which would make a mockery of the sacrifices that millions of other Americans are (Continued on Page Two)

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

The Associated Nations Stabilization Fund is the most electrifying proposal since the invention of the hot seat.

The happy family of nations has but to hurdle a few impassable barriers and we're off to Utopia with our golden hair streaming out behind us in the wind.

The Mt. Everest of the proposals is the one which goes: "The quota for each member country shall be determined by an agreed-upon formula."

The mine workers will settle their troubles with the operators when there is "an agreed-upon formula." Husbands and wives will live peacefully together without argument or divorce when there is "an agreed-upon formula." This will be a beautiful world when there is an "agreed-upon formula" for our troubles.

The difficulty is in getting the "agreed-upon formula."

After that comes the units. . . which evidently is the currency of Utopia.

Ten pennies make a dime, ten dimes a dollar, ten dollars make a unitas, ten unitas make a comatose.

KEEP HANDS ON WHEEL, COURT WARNS DRIVERS

COLUMBUS, O., April 8—In all seriousness, the state supreme court today ruled that a youth who is driving an auto in excess of 50 miles an hour, and who takes his hands from the wheel and kisses a girl companion, is guilty of "wanton misconduct" at least as far as civil liability is concerned.

The court refused to review a $5,000 judgment against Glenn Liggett, driver of an auto in which Jean Major was injured as they were returning to their Morristown homes following a basketball game. Miss Major was riding in the back seat at the time the car careened off the road and into a stone wall.

WASHINGTON, April 8—Closely following Secretary of War Stimson's disclosure that more fighting planes are en route to the southwest Pacific, the navy today announced that American combat pilots, over Guadalcanal shot down 37 Japanese aircraft in one of the greatest sky battles of the Solomon campaign.

The dramatic navy news of a battle between 98 Japanese bombers and zero fighters and an undisclosed number of American planes, came shortly after Stimson warned that the Japanese have increased their air strength in China, Burma, and the southwest Pacific.

"However," Stimson added, "we have also increased our strength and further increases are in immediate prospect."

The air battle in the Solomons left no doubt that the numbers of American army, navy, and marine corps planes have been increased in the Solomon area.

This was indicated by the fact that the U. S. lost only seven aircraft in the big aerial battle. The Japanese lost 21 zeros, five dive bombers, and 11 other planes.

WITH AMERICAN AND BRITISH FORCES EAST OF EL GUETTAR, April 8—Collapse of last enemy strongholds in the area east of El Guettar began this afternoon following a combined frontal assault by allied tanks and infantry and a tank assault by French units from the south slopes of Djebel Berda.

Battle-ried American troops, led by veterans of 1918, and units of Britain's famed Eighth army, marched together against the axis forces retreating to the northeast.

American and British forces in Tunisia, united at last in their campaign to drive the axis out of Africa, snapped at the heels of the retreating legions of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel today as they fled northward toward Sfax on the eastern coast.

An official communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said that mobile forces started to pursue the axis forces northward from the Wadi El Akarit area yesterday. An Algers radio broadcast, which lacked official confirmation, said the British eighth army had advanced six miles north of Wadi El Akarit to within 10 miles of the town of Cekhira, which is only 60 miles from Sfax.

Union Achieved

Union of the second corps of the American fifth army with units of the British eighth army was achieved yesterday 15 miles east of El Guettar at Djebel Chemi while allied bombers and fighter planes conducted a ceaseless barrage against enemy transport columns retreating northward.

Shouts of high glee came from both the American Doughboys and the British Tommies as they joined forces on the southern flank of Rommel's steadily shrinking strip (Continued on Page Two)

From the time the woman was taken to Grant hospital, attaches there said she could not recover, but, despite unconsciousness, she remained alive for more than two weeks.

Her death was the second resulting from the auto-truck crash just north of South Bloomfield. Mrs. John Baker of Ashville, sister of Mrs. Justus, being killed instantly. Enemy Legions In Flight Toward Sfax—1918 Vets Lead Americans

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, April 8—Closely following Secretary of War Stimson's disclosure that more fighting planes are en route to the southwest Pacific, the navy today announced that American combat pilots, over Guadalcanal shot down 37 Japanese aircraft in one of the greatest sky battles of the Solomons campaign.

The dramatic navy news of a battle between 98 Japanese bombers and zero fighters and an undisclosed number of American planes, came shortly after Stimson warned that the Japanese have increased their air strength in China, Burma, and the southwest Pacific.

"However," Stimson added, "we have also increased our strength and further increases are in immediate prospect."

The air battle in the Solomons left no doubt that the numbers of American army, navy, and marine corps planes have been increased in the Solomons area.

This was indicated by the fact that the U. S. lost only seven aircraft in the big aerial battle. The Japanese lost 21 zeros, five dive bombers, and 11 other planes.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 8

A general offensive in both north and south Tunisia was launched by Allied forces today following junction of British and American troops at Djebel Chemi northwest of Gabes.

The British First army under Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson jumped off in the Med-jez-El-Bab area before dawn. It gained considerable ground and took numerous prisoners.

Other United States troops exerted heavy pressure on axis forces east of Maknassy.

BULLETIN

WITH AMERICAN AND BRITISH FORCES EAST OF EL GUETTAR, April 8

Collapse of last enemy strongholds in the area east of El Guettar began this afternoon following a combined frontal assault by allied tanks and infantry and a tank assault by French units from the south slopes of Djebel Berda.

Battle-tired American troops, led by veterans of 1918, and units of Britain's famed Eighth army, marched together against the axis forces retiring to the northeast.

By International News Service

American and British forces in Tunisia, united at last in their campaign to drive the axis out of Africa, snapped at the heels of the retreating legions of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel today as they fled northward toward Sfax on the eastern coast.

An official communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said that mobile forces started to pursue the axis forces northward from the Wadi El Akarit area yesterday. An Algerian radio broadcast, which lacked official confirmation, said the British eighth army had advanced six miles north of Wadi El Akarit to within 10 miles of the town of Cehkira, which is only 60 miles from Sfax.

Union Achieved

Union of the second corps of the American fifth army with units of the British eighth army was achieved yesterday 15 miles east of El Guettar at Djebel Chemi while allied bombers and fighter planes conducted a ceaseless barrage against enemy transport columns retreating northward.

Shouts of high glee came from both the American Doughboys and the British Tommies as they joined forces on the southern flank of Rommel's steadily shrinking strip (Continued on Page Two) of land along the eastern Tunisian coast.

In London, however, military observers warned that the junction of British and American forces east of El Guettar probably would not shorten the time required for the complete defeat of Rommel's armies. They said the Eighth army would undoubtedly continue to set the pace for the allied advance and added that the junction with the Americans had merely eliminated a weak spot in allied air support over the center of the front.

Fast Nazi Retreat
Nevertheless it was clear that the main body of Rommel's once-proud Afrika Korps was withdrawing as fast as it could go along the coastal road north of the broken Wadi El Akarit line. Whether these forces would stop at Sfax or continue on to the more easily defensible Terrain in the vicinity of Sousse remained problematical.

Perhaps the most significant statement made in today's communiqué from allied headquarters in North Africa was that the enemy "has been decisively defeated" and is being pursued "relentlessly" northward.

This would indicate that Rommel's forces, weakened by the constant allied artillery and aerial pounding as they retreat, are not likely to be able to make a major stand before they reach Sfax, 60 miles north of their present position. Considerations of Terrain make a stand at Sfax unlikely, but there is no telling what Rommel will do in his desperation to avoid complete and utter defeat.

Naples Hit Again
Heavy American bombers operating from African bases again raided the battered Italian port of Naples last night, setting fires in the harbor area. Other American bombers blasted the axis Ferry Terminal at Messina on the island of Sicily.

The Nazi-controlled Paris radio station said that the Royal Air Force attacked a town in western France today, but the report was officially denied in London. Some observers believed that the Paris broadcast, which referred to an attack "with incendiaries and high explosives," may indicate that patriots have carried out some sabotage in this area.

Allied heavy and medium bombers were also active in the southwest Pacific, strafing a small Japanese convoy northwest of Kavieng, New Ireland, and blasting enemy bases on New Guinea, New Britain and other islands north of Australia.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden gave the house of commons an account of his visit to the United States, declaring that no mission with which he had ever been charged had been so "fundamentally worthwhile." He added that he was greatly encouraged by the general agreement among American officials concerning the conduct of the war and post-war problems.

In the southwest Pacific allied heavy and medium bombers straffed a small Japanese convoy northwest of Kavieng, New Ireland, and blasted enemy bases in a wide arc north of Australia. Near misses were also scored on a Jap destroyer in the Solomons sea off the coast of Bougainville island.

There were no material changes along the Russian battlefield, but Soviet troops captured several favorable positions south of Izum, 65 miles below Kharkov in the middle Donets region, after bringing Nazi attacks to a halt.

called on to make in defense of our country, a scramble which would have the most far-reaching effects upon our devotion to the national interest at home and upon the spirit of our fighting men at the front.

Brown maintained that both farm prices and farm income have been raised to fair levels. Since August, 1939, he said, prices farmers receive have increased 110 percent, while prices that farmers pay have increased only 26 percent.

Brown explained that OPA experts calculate that the Pace bill would drive up retail food prices by 10 1/2 percent, add two and one-half billion dollars to the annual food budget and increase by $750,000,000 a year the expense of feeding our armed forces and supplying our allies.

"So radical a change in the price of foods would end stabilization of prices and wages," he declared.

Southerners Determined
The southern operators had announced a similar stand several days ago, and Edward R. Burke, spokesman for the group said an appeal would be carried to the War Labor Board "not later than today."

Lewis termed O'Neill's statement an "affront to the union's intelligence and an arrogant and contemptuous gesture on the part of these opulent coal operators."

Dr. Steelman was present during the exchange between O'Neill and Lewis and turned to newspapermen to remark with sarcasm:

"You can see it's a pleasure to work in a situation where a spirit of co-operation is as great as it is here."

48 HOUR WEEK OF NO INTEREST TO WESTERNER

SEATTLE, Wash., April 8—A Seattle employer was given assurance today that the 48-hour work week for critical war production areas won't cut his production after all.

The War Manpower Commission was somewhat startled when the employer lodged a stiff protest against the ruling, declaring it "would cut down our production when we should be trying to build it up."

"How come?" A WMC official asked.

"Because," the employer announced, "we have been on a 60-hour week for months."

The WMC official patiently explained that the 48-hour ruling was a mandatory minimum—not a maximum—and that if his men wanted to work 60 hours a week, they could "go to it" with the commission's blessing.

IMMUNIZATION PROGRAM CONDUCTED IN SCHOOLS

More than 100 Circleville first grade pupils are immunized today against diphtheria following an immunization program started and completed Wednesday in schools of the city.

Mrs. Mae M. Grooms, city health nurse, said the number of immunizations was 105, this number being 60 percent of the total of 168 children in the four first grade rooms of the school system.

Several other children whose parents have granted permission for them to be immunized were ill and unable to be present. However, they will be immunized later.

BRICKER SEES BETTER DAYS FOLLOWING WAR

NEW YORK, April 8—Post-war America must go neither to the right nor left but straight ahead, Governor John W. Bricker, of Ohio, maintained today.

"We are not going back to the good old days, because we can go ahead to better days," Bricker told a meeting of the Academy of Political Science.

Once hailed as the heir of pre-Pearl Harbor mid-west isolationism, the chief executive of the "state of presidents" saw a place for America in post-war world activities but he decried use of the issue for political purposes.

The term "isolationist," he asserted, "describes nothing," but "is used for selfish interests and by some blind fanatics who see gobins." "Internationalist," he added, was an appellation "just as absurd."

"No sane man," Bricker asserted, "would think of wiping out national lines or subordinating his own government to a foreign authority. Isn't that what the United Nations are fighting to prevent? It is time for those who live under our flag to be Americans and keep America free, strong and self-reliant."

The speaker let his listeners know that America, after the present conflict, will be in competition "with hard working people around the world," and that this country's lot, hence, will be one of industry and application and not of indolence.

BOLIVIA DECLARES WAR AGAINST AXIS NATIONS

LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 8—Bolivia today became the twelfth Latin-American country to declare war on the axis powers.

A decree ordering immediate mobilization for war was issued last night by President Enrique Penaranda. The decree must be confirmed by the Bolivian congress, but the approval of the congress was regarded as a mere formality.

Bolivia has a population of 3,426,000 and rich resources in tin, tungsten and other strategic metals vitally important to the United Nations' war effort.

Diplomatic relations with the axis were severed in January, 1942.

The declaration of war may have serious internal repercussions, since there are many Germans and Italians in Bolivia.

ized the senate's action as an ultimatum to President Roosevelt to hold the line against inflation on the question of wages and similar demands.

Having disposed of the Bankhead bill, the senate today was expected to pass a house-approved bill to revise and continue a wage boost for government employees.

Sen. Thomas (D) Okla., charged that congress voted a $600,000,000 annual wage increase to government workers, but takes the position that a small price boost to farmers is inflationary and cannot be granted.

Meantime, the farm bloc began whipping its second club into shape.

Price Administrator Prentiss Brown and Secretary of Agriculture Wickard were called before the agriculture committee to testify on the Pace party bill, which Brown estimates would boost farm commodity ceiling prices 14 percent.

This measure, regarded by the administration as more menacing than the Pace bill, has consistently been fought by it. It provides for a new definition of parity prices to include all costs of farm labor.

THREE ESCAPE INJURY WHEN CAR HITS TREE

Three Circleville men narrowly escaped serious injury at 1 a. m. Thursday when their automobile crashed into a tree and utility pole in the 600 block of North Court street.

Fred Smith, 39, of 819 South Washington street, driver of the automobile, told Patrolman Turner Ross that lights from two cars approaching from the south blinded him. The Smith automobile, a 1936 Ford, went over the curb, blowing out a tire, and into the tree and pole, wrecking the front end of the vehicle.

With Smith were Allen Goff, 618 South Scioto street, and William Smeyers, 730 South Scioto street. Neither man suffered injuries other than bruises.

not only go to the War Labor Board but to every one from "President Roosevelt down."

Southerners Determined

The southern operators had announced a similar stand several days ago, and Edward R. Burke, spokesman for the group said an appeal would be carried to the War Labor Board "not later than today."

Lewis termed O'Neill's statement an "affront to the union's intelligence and an arrogant and contemptuous gesture on the part of these opulent coal operators."

Dr. Steelman was present during the exchange between O'Neill and Lewis and turned to newspapermen to remark with sarcasm:

"You can see it's a pleasure to work in a situation where a spirit of co-operation is as great as it is here."

48 HOUR WEEK OF NO INTEREST TO WESTERNER

SEATTLE, Wash., April 8—A Seattle employer was given assurance today that the 48-hour work week for critical war production areas won't cut his production area at all.

The War Manpower Commission was somewhat startled when the employer lodged a stiff protest against the ruling, declaring it "would cut down our production when we should be trying to build it up."

"How come?" A WMC official asked.

"Because," the employer announced, "we have been on a 60-hour week for months."

The WMC official patiently explained that the 48-hour ruling was a mandatory minimum—not a maximum—and that if his men wanted to work 60 hours a week, they could "go to it" with the commission's blessing.

IMMUNIZATION PROGRAM CONDUCTED IN SCHOOLS

More than 100 Circleville first grade pupils are immunized today against diphtheria following an immunization program started and completed Wednesday in schools of the city.

Mrs. Mae M. Groome, city health nurse, said the number of immunizations was 105, this number being 60 percent of the total of 168 children in the four first grade rooms of the school system.

Several other children whose parents have granted permission for them to be immunized were ill and unable to be present. However, they will be immunized later.

McDOWELL HIRED FOR TWO YEARS BY RURAL BOARD

George D. McDowell, superintendent of Pickaway county schools, was employed for an additional two year term Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of Pickaway county board of education.

Mr. McDowell's new contract becomes effective August 1, 1943. The superintendent has been head of Pickaway county schools since August 1, 1934.

BRICKER SEES BETTER DAYS FOLLOWING WAR

NEW YORK, April 8—Post-war America must go neither to the right nor left but straight ahead, Governor John W. Bricker, of Ohio, maintained today.

"We are not going back to the good old days, because we can go ahead to better days," Bricker told a meeting of the Academy of Political Science.

Once hailed as the heir of pre-Pearl Harbor mid-west isolationism, the chief executive of the "state of presidents" saw a place for America in post-war world activities but he decried use of the issue for political purposes.

The term "isolationist," he asserted, "describes nothing," but "is used for selfish interests and by some blind fanatics who see gobins." "Internationalist," he added, was an appellation "just as absurd."

"No sane man," Bricker asserted, "would think of wiping out national lines or subordinating his own government to a foreign authority. Isn't that what the United Nations are fighting to prevent? It is time for those who live under our flag to be Americans and keep America free, strong and self-reliant."

The speaker let his listeners know that America, after the present conflict, will be in competition "with hard working people around the world," and that this country's lot, hence, will be one of industry and application and not of indolence.

BOLIVIA DECLARES WAR AGAINST AXIS NATIONS

LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 8—Bolivia today became the twelfth Latin-American country to declare war on the axis powers.

A decree ordering immediate mobilization for war was issued last night by President Enrique Penaranda. The decree must be confirmed by the Bolivian congress, but the approval of the congress was regarded as a mere formality.

Bolivia has a population of 3,426,000 and rich resources in tin, tungsten and other strategic metals vitally important to the United Nations' war effort.

Diplomatic relations with the axis were severed in January, 1942.

The declaration of war may have serious internal repercussions, since there are many Germans and Italians in Bolivia.

UNION VICTORY WILL SIGNAL NEW AG DRIVE

ized the senate's action as an ultimatum to President Roosevelt to hold the line against inflation on the question of wages and similar demands.

Having disposed of the Bankhead bill, the senate today was expected to pass a house-approved bill to revise and continue a wage boost for government employees.

Sen. Thomas (D) Okla., charged that congress voted a $600,000,000 annual wage increase to government workers, but takes the position that a small price boost to farmers is inflationary and cannot be granted.

Meantime, the farm bloc began whipping its second club into shape.

Price Administrator Prentiss Brown and Secretary of Agriculture Wickard were called before the agriculture committee to testify on the Pace parity bill, which Brown estimates would boost farm commodity ceiling prices 14 percent.

This measure, regarded by the administration as more menacing than the Pace bill, has consistently been fought by it. It provides for a new definition of parity prices to include all costs of farm labor.

CITY'S POLICE TOO KIND; MORE CATS APPEAR

News of the manner in which Police Chief Will McCrady and members of his rough and ready corps of policemen are taking care of a stray kitten must be getting around. During the last couple of days two more cats have appeared at City Hall for lodging, and they are getting it.

Three office cats now greet persons visiting the police headquarters.

The cats are quite a bother, but they provide a lot of entertainment for the officers.

The chief hasn't yet applied to the ration board for a meat book for the cats, but one of these days he might take such a step. Right now the cats are living on what policemen bring in to city hall.

MAJOR LOOPS COME UP WITH MANY ROOKIES

Numerous Men Signed Up
For Baseball Stars
In Minor Loops

BRAVES DRAW PAIR

Cards Don't Need Help,
But They Get Harry
Breechen, Others

By Lawton Carver
NEW YORK, April 8—War or no war, the major leagues have come up with some sparkling good talent out of the minors for the start of the 1943 season.

Don't ask who they are, because by the time you get the words out of your mouth they will be drafted and on their way. Don't ask. Let me try to mention it in a vague, casual sort of way while Uncle Whiskers isn't looking. The National league, for instance.

Take the Boston Braves—and taking them is something practically everybody does if you will permit the reminder. They have a gent named Charlie Red Barrett who, at Syracuse, led the entire International league last season in pitching victories with 20 against 12 defeats. He, in fact, was the only 20 game winner in the circuit.

They also have Johnny McCarthy, who at Indianapolis, lead the American association in runs batted in with 113, or a few more than the Brooklyn Dodgers or New York Giants ever thought he could get across the plate in the days when he played with them. He also led in total bases.

The Braves also have, of course, in the person of Jim Tobin, the pitcher who hit more home runs than any other pitcher last season and in him the pitcher who lost more games than any other, but we will skip that remembering that in Ernie Lombardi they also have the National league batting champion if he decides to come back again.

The Dodgers will present, as erstwhile minor league leaders, Country Olmo, the batting champion of the Piedmont league—and the champion in most other hitting departments—and Roberto Ortiz, the Cuban acquired from the Phils, who was the Southern league leader.

The Chicago Cubs will present Kewpie Barrett, who led the Pacific coast league in earned runs with a 1.72 figure and with 27 victories, the most won by any pitcher in any league last season. They also have Whitey Platt, whose .395 batting average made him tops in the Three-I league.

Reds Get Speedster
The Cincinnati Reds don't have much to offer in the way of minor league brilliance, unless you want to take Charlie Brewster, who at New Orleans stole 29 bases to lead the Southern association in that department, besides hitting .301.

The New York Giants had Johnny Mize as the National league runs batted in champion to go along with the minor league stars but seemingly have lost him to the draft and now are concentrating on a number of others. There is Vic Bradford, an outfielder, for instance, who was the big man at Jacksonville in the Sally league with a batting average of .342, plus leadership in runs, total bases, doubles, triples and homers and a tie for runs batted in.

The Giants also have Bobby Coombs, who won 17 against 11 defeats at Jersey City and turned in a 1.99 earned run average—in further perpetuating the baseball name of Coombs, first and most prominently brought into the headlines by his uncle, Jack Coombs, one of the greatest hurlers back in the dim and distant past.

The Pittsburgh Pirates are coming up with one Xavier Reaño, who was tops in the Eastern league pitching last season with 23 wins and an earned run average of 1.76.

The St. Louis Cardinals don't need any minor league help, what with Mort Cooper the National league's standout hurler, on hand again, but they have come up with a couple anyhow.

One is Pitcher Harry Breechen, American association earned run leader, strikeout and shutout king of his circuit and winner of 19 games. Another is Pitcher George Dockins, who led the Southern association in won and lost percentage, 14 and 5, and who has been a consistent winner in the minors ever since he turned seriously to baseball.

The Philadelphia Phillies have nobody to offer, unless they might possibly come up with the champion of cross country backwards walking.

PHILLY ROOKIE MAY BE CALLED FOR ARMY SOON

HERSHEY, Pa., April 8—News that infielder Del Savio, recently purchased from Cincinnati for the $7500 waiver price, has been called up for his first physical, today tempered the Phillies' 5-3 victory scored at the expense of the

BEAU JACK AND MONTGOMERY TO BATTLE MAY 21

NEW YORK, April 8—When Georgia's Beau Jack and Philadelphia's Bob Montgomery meet in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden May 21, they will be fighting for a rather peculiar product of the New York state boxing commission—the world's lightweight championship of New York.

This unusual title belongs to Jack, who, to earn it, met Tippy Larkin in another commission-inspired bout last December 18, and pounded that gentleman into a coma. Montgomery now rates a shot at it by surviving the commission's 135-pound elimination or the commission itself, just which is not clear.

In the meantime, Jack has been ordered by his physician to take a three-weeks rest before going into training for the bout. This is because of a vitamin deficiency brought about, not by meat rationing, but Jack's insistence on eating only two meals a day during his recent strenuous campaign, a custom ordinarily enforced through the legal machinery of the OPA.

1,000 GRIDDER WIN ATTENTION OF PRO MOGULS

CHICAGO, April 8—A pool of 1,000 star football players, headed by Frankie Sinkwich, all-American from the University of Georgia, represented the bone of contention among coaches and owners of the National football league today in their annual draft meeting.

Although it was figured that 800 of the 1,000 already are, in the army, navy or marine corps and that most of the other 200 soon may be there nevertheless was an attempt by the nine active teams of the league and by Cleveland, which has withdrawn, to obtain rights on the 200 players in today's football draft.

Sinkwich, along with the majority of the players on Georgia's 1942 team, already is in the service. The Detroit Lions, who occupied the cellar position in the league's championship race last year, were entitled to first choice in the draft but whether Fred Mandel, club owner, would overlook such a standout as Sinkwich in favor of an athlete who could not meet army specifications or who had a deferment was problematical.

Gus Dorais, newly appointed coach of the Lions, originally was scheduled to preside over Detroit's draft call, but since his physicians refused to permit him to travel to Chicago he remained by a telephone in the motor city while Mandel followed his direction in the draft call.

DODGERS GAIN 2-1 SCORE OVER YALE SCHOOL 9

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 8—"By the skin of their teeth." That, figuratively, it was conceded today how the Brooklyn Dodgers made their two-to-one win over the Eli nine yesterday before a crowd of 5,000 at Yale field.

Swing after swing, Dodger batsmen came to plate for eight innings without putting up a single marker and it remained for Hurler Al Sherer to score after a sacrifice by Johnny Cooney and a single by Paul Waner. On the throw-in, Waner got to second and he scored following a hit by Medwick.

The Elis still showed fight in the last half of the ninth when they made their score but Sherer held them to the singleton.

army's New Cumberland baseball team. Should he be accepted, the National league cellar team would once again be left with only three infielders.

Sports Shots Gathered For Varied Ohio Areas

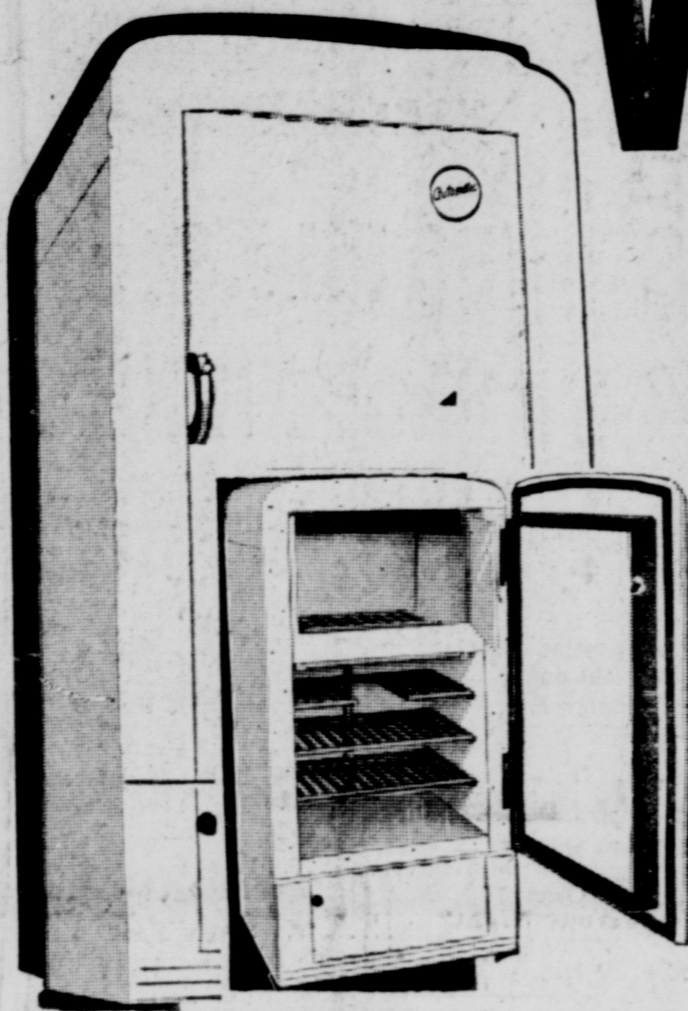

By Harold Lisk
COLUMBUS, April 8—Along Ohio's sports trail today, we find...
The suggestion from several quarters that Ohio high school eligibility rules forbidding a student from participating in sports after his 20th birthday be changed to the 18th birthday, is not being taken very seriously by those officials in power. They point out that a few boys won't be called to the army immediately after their 18 birthday and express the opinion it would be unfair to penalize such boys for merely becoming 18.

Proponents of the 18-year-old rule, pointing out that the army has first call to the youths when they reach that age, contend lowering of the age limit would be only fair to the 15, 16, and 17-year-old youngsters who will have to carry the burden in high school wartime athletics...

MAJOR LOOPS COME UP WITH MANY ROOKIES

Numerous Men Signed Up

BRAVES DRAW PAIR

Cards Don't Need Help,
But They Get Harry
Brecheen, Others

By Lawton Carver
NEW YORK, April 8—War or no war, the major leagues have come up with some sparkling good talent, out of the minors for the start of the 1943 season.

Don't ask who they are, because by the time you get the words out of your mouth they will be drafted and on their way. Don't ask. Let me try to mention it in a vague, casual sort of way while Uncle Whiskers isn't looking. The National league, for instance.

Take the Boston Braves—and taking them is something practically everybody does if you will permit the reminder. They have a gent named Charlie Red Barrett who, at Syracuse, led the entire International league last season in pitching victories with 20 against 12 defeats. He, in fact, was the only 20 game winner in the circuit.

They also have Johnny McCarthy, who at Indianapolis, lead the American association in runs batted in with 113, or a few more than the Brooklyn Dodgers or New York Giants ever thought he could get across the plate in the days when he played with them. He also led in total bases.

The Braves also have, of course, in the person of Jim Tobin, the pitcher who hit more home runs than any other pitcher last season and in him the pitcher who lost more games than any other, but we will skip that remembering that in Ernie Lombardi they also have the National league batting champion if he decides to come back again.

The Dodgers will present, as erstwhile minor league leaders, Country Olmo, the batting champion of the Piedmont league—and the champion in most other hitting departments—and Roberto Ortiz, the Cuban acquired from the Phils, who was the Southern league leader.

The Chicago Cubs will present Kewpie Barrett, who led the Pacific coast league in earned runs with a 1.72 figure and with 27 victories, the most won by any pitcher in any league last season. They also have Whitey Platt, whose .395 batting average made him tops in the Three-I league.

Reds Get Speedster
The Cincinnati Reds don't have much to offer in the way of minor league brilliance, unless you want to take Charlie Brewster, who at New Orleans stole 29 bases to lead the Southern association in that department, besides hitting .301.

The New York Giants had Johnny Mize as the National league runs batted in champion to go along with the minor league stars but seemingly have lost him to the draft and now are concentrating on a number of others. There is Vic Bradford, an outfielder, for instance, who was the big man at Jacksonville in the Sally league with a batting average of .342, plus leadership in runs, total bases, doubles, triples and homers and a tie for runs batted in.

The Giants also have Bobby Coombs, who won 17 against 11 defeats at Jersey City and turned in a 1.99 earned run average—in further perpetuating the baseball name of Coombs, first and most prominently brought into the headlines by his uncle, Jack Coombs, one of the greatest hurlers back in the dim and distant past.

The Pittsburgh Pirates are coming up with one Xavier Rebecqno, who was tops in the Eastern league pitching last season with 23 wins and an earned run average of 1.76.

The St. Louis Cardinals don't need any minor league help, what with Mort Cooper the National league's standout hurler, on hand again, but they have come up with a couple anyhow.

One is Pitcher Harry Brecheen, American association earned run leader, strikeout and shutout king of his circuit and winner of 19 games. Another is Pitcher George Dockins, who led the Southern association in won and lost percentage, 14 and 5, and who has been a consistent winner in the minors ever since he turned seriously to baseball.

The Philadelphia Phillies have nobody to offer, unless they might possibly come up with the champion of cross country backwards walking.

BEAU JACK AND MONTGOMERY TO BATTLE MAY 21

NEW YORK, April 8—When Georgia's Beau Jack and Philadelphia's Bob Montgomery meet in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden May 21, they will be fighting for a rather peculiar product of the New York state boxing commission—the world's lightweight championship of New York.

This unusual title belongs to Jack, who, to earn it, met Tippy Larkin in another commission-inspired bout last December 18, and pounded that gentleman into a coma. Montgomery now rates a shot at it by surviving the commission's 135-pound elimination or the commission itself, just which is not clear.

In the meantime, Jack has been ordered by his physician to take a three-weeks rest before going into training for the bout. This is because of a vitamin deficiency brought about, not by meat rationing, but Jack's insistence on eating only two meals a day during his recent strenuous campaign, a custom ordinarily enforced through the legal machinery of the OPA.

1,000 GRIDDERS WIN ATTENTION OF PRO MOGULS

CHICAGO, April 8—A pool of 1,000 star football players, headed by Frankie Sinkwich, all-American from the University of Georgia, represented the bone of contention among coaches and owners of the National football league today in their annual draft meeting.

Although it was figured that 800 of the 1,000 already are in the army, navy or marine corps and that most of the other 200 soon may be there nevertheless was an attempt by the nine active teams of the league and by Cleveland, which has withdrawn, to obtain rights on the 200 players in today's football draft.

Sinkwich, along with the majority of the players on Georgia's 1942 team, already is in the service. The Detroit Lions, who occupied the cellar position in the league's championship race last year, were entitled to first choice in the draft but whether Fred Mandel, club owner, would overlook such a standout as Sinkwich in favor of an athlete who could not meet army specifications or who had a deferment was problematical.

Gus Dorais, newly appointed coach of the Lions, originally was scheduled to preside over Detroit's draft call, but since his physicians refused to permit him to travel to Chicago he remained by a telephone in the motor city while Mandel followed his direction in the draft call.

DODGERS GAIN 2-1 SCORE OVER YALE SCHOOL 9

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 8—"By the skin of their teeth." That, figuratively, it was conceded today how the Brooklyn Dodgers made their two-to-one win over the Eli nine yesterday before a crowd of 5,000 at Yale field.

Swing after swing, Dodger batsmen came to plate for eight innings without putting up a single marker and it remained for Hurler Al Sherer to score after a sacrifice by Johnny Cooney and a single by Paul Waner. On the throw-in, Waner got to second and he scored following a hit by Medwick.

The Elis still showed fight in the last half of the ninth when they made their score but Sherer held them to the singleton.

army's New Cumberland baseball team. Should he be accepted, the National league cellar team will once again be left with only three infielders.

Sports Shots Gathered For Varied Ohio Areas

By Harold Lisk
COLUMBUS, April 8—Along Ohio's sports trail today, we find...

The suggestion from several quarters that Ohio high school eligibility rules forbidding a student from participating in sports after his 20th birthday be changed to the 18th birthday, is not being taken very seriously by those officials in power. They point out that a few boys won't be called to the army immediately after their 18 birthday and express the opinion it would be unfair to penalize such boys for merely becoming 18.

Proponents of the 18-year-old rule, pointing out that the army has first call to the youths when they reach that age, contend lowering of the age limit would be only fair to the 15, 16, and 17-year-old youngsters who will have to carry the burden in high school wartime athletics...

Tippy Dye, former Pomeroy High School and Ohio State University athletic star and now a coach at the latter institution, made a recent trek to Washington to inquire about a commission in the Navy. Although nothing is definite so far, Dye found out that an ensign's stripes would be the best he could rate due to the new age barriers. The lower age limit is 32 for a lieutenant (j. g.)...

Bucks Get Big Boy

Paul Brown will have at least one high school star for his football squad next Fall. The youth in question is Brenton (Sonny) Kirk, football and basketball stalwart at New Philadelphia high school. Six-foot-two, 190 pounds and only 17 years old. Kirk is enrolled in Ohio State as a pre-medical student. He played tackle for Philly's footballers and was co-captain of the basketball squad...

Art Metzger, of Louisville (Stark county), is the only Ohioan on Notre Dame's baseball squad. A catcher, Metzger is pressing Tom Sheehan, a New Haven, Conn., for a starting berth...

The Toledo Mud Hens, Spring training at Ohio University, don't like that large right field at the school's baseball park. The fence is 655 feet from home plate. Mickey Cochran, coach of Great Lakes' baseball nine last year, pulled the best crack about the field. After two of his players slammed tremendous drives to right only to have them pulled down with comparative ease by the Ohio U. right fielder, Mickey asked Bobcat Coach Don Peden: "Why don't you have that right fielder buy a ticket to this exhibition; that guy isn't even in the ball park"...

Brinker Happy
Coach Howard Brinker, of Steubenville high school, reports a squad of 48 Big Red football candidates are out for Spring practice. After looking them over, Brinker seemed both enthusiastic and optimistic for what the future will bring...

Ohio conservation circles point out that now is the time when city hunters can show their appreciation to farmers for permission to hunt on their property. With a shortage of farm labor reported from most areas, conservationists suggest that city hunters, several of whom have at least an elementary farm knowledge, form work brigades to aid the farmer on Saturdays, Sundays or other times when their regular jobs do not interfere...

COUNCIL BANS CANINES FROM GARDEN ROLES

Dog Owners Required To Keep Pets Out Of Victory Plots

FINES TO BE ASSESSED

Cooperation Of Police And County Warden Urged For Program

Circleville council took a role in the Victory Garden campaign Wednesday evening when it voted an ordinance under suspension of rules fixing penalties to be assessed against persons who permit their dogs to run over neighboring properties, thus damaging gardens.

The ordinance was prepared at the request of the Pickaway county Victory Garden committee headed by Robert L. Brehmer. It was given a first reading and passed immediately, all members voting their support.

Under the ordinance, fines of $5 to $25 may be assessed by Mayor Ben H. Gordon against persons who permit their dogs to run wild. Cooperation of the police department and the county dog warden is also asked in an effort to control canines which damage gardens.

Council Thanked

Mr. Brehmer attended the council meeting and thanked the city officials for their cooperation.

Council's session Wednesday was one of its longest in many months, a 90-minute recess for discussion of various problems sending the meeting past 10:30 o'clock.

Rate of pay for special nurses at Berger hospital was boosted in an effort to attract more persons to the list available for service. Mrs. Bess Koehleiser, new superintendent at Berger, attended her first council meeting and discussed various measures with council for improvement of the institution.

The pay for special nurses was boosted from 50 cents an hour to 75 cents, this increase being sufficient to obtain more nurses during busy periods.

No special nurse, however, may be paid more than $27.50 a week, the regular rate for nurses to become effective after that amount is reached.

Hospital Ward Approved

Council was informed by Safety Director E. W. Weiler that state board of health certificate approving the hospital's new maternity ward has been received. The hospital had operated its maternity ward since its opening in 1930 without a state license. Separation of the delivery room and maternity ward resulted in approval of the license.

Hospital's report for the quarter beginning January 1 and ending March 31 was read, collections being reported at $7,935.13 and expenses at $7,025.83 with accounts receivable reported at $881.89. The quarter was nearer an even break in expenses and collections than any quarter in the hospital's history.

During the three months there were 177 persons admitted, 226 treated, 1,119 days of care, 57 births, five deaths and 23 operations.

Delinquent sewage disposal accounts, totaling $764, were certified County Auditor Forrest Short to be placed on the tax duplicate, this amount being delinquent for a year.

Council also asked the county auditor for an advance of $1,500 on its tax settlement. Tax distribution is expected to be conducted before May 1, the city expecting $1,500 to take care of its needs until that time.

Parking Meters Pay

Report made to council of parking meter collections since the devices were installed March 10, 1942, shows that $9,111.05 has been put into the machines, of which $6,887.59 has been paid the meter company. There are about 180 meters in operation.

Under a contract with the meter company the city may buy the devices at a later date, money paid to the firm being counted as part of the purchase price.

Council was told that despite gasoline rationing and other restrictive measures meter revenues have fallen only slightly.

An ordinance establishing the job of meter service man, held the last three months by Abe Greenlee, was passed after a state examiner checking local accounts found that while the job was filled it has never been established according to law.

Mayor Collects Fines

Mayor Ben H. Gordon reported collections of $200.70 during March, $51 as fines, $5.70 as costs and $141 in bonds. All $51 of fines was from highway patrol cases, the money to be used for street repair purposes only.

City's funds in all accounts total $27,034.05, the report read by W. E. Wallace, acting finance chairman, shows. The breakdown lists general, $438.61; library, $2,967.32; auto street repair, $7,708.41; gasoline tax, $6,271.99; hospital, $1,226.57 and sewage disposal, $8,421.15.

Pay rates for special policemen and firemen were approved by council, pay for policemen to be $3 for an eight hour day and for firemen $7 for a 24-hour day.

Consider Claim

Council engaged in a lengthy discussion of a claim for $300 to be paid Miller Fissell, former traffic officer, for use of his motorcycle during 1940, 1941 and 1942. An ordinance providing payment was read for the first time, but an effort to suspend rules and pass it immediately failed when Councilmen George Crites and Boyd Horn voted against the measure. Councilmen Don Mason, Julius Helwagen and W. E. Wallace were for suspension of rules, and W. M. Reid not voting.

Question of a verbal contract between Mr. Fissell and Karl J. Herrmann, who was safety director at the time, has caused council to delay paying the account.

Members of the fire department sent an appeal to council Wednesday evening urging that they be put on a pay schedule similar to that operating for police. The letter said that in past years the two departments were paid the same wages and worked the same hours but that the last few years police have received pay boosts and reductions in hours while firemen have not received either. The latter cites the fact that it costs as much for members of one department to live as it does another.

Firemen receive $115 and policemen $125, the chief of each department drawing $135, the police chief receiving part of costs received by the mayor.

The letter to council was signed by Talmer Wise, chief; Noble E. Barr, Ray Anderson, Dan Eitel, Robert Wolf and Fred Howell.

The question was referred to the finance committee.

LOCAL DISTRICT OF GAS COMPANY WINS CONTEST

Athens district of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., of which the Circleville office is a part, won an Ohio district War Bond and Stamp sales contest conducted from December 28 through March 15.

Dan McClain, local manager, was informed Wednesday of the district's high rating, a letter from the company thanking the local office for the work it did during the campaign.

Despite the end of the contest, the Gas company is continuing its efforts to sell Bonds and Stamps.

COURT INCREASES BOND FOR CONEY FRED NANCE

Judge Meeker Terwilliger, acting on a motion filed by Prosecutor George E. Gerhardt, boosted the bond of Coney Fred Nance, Monroe township, from $500 to $1,000 in common pleas court Wednesday. Nance is charged with a statutory offense involving a daughter.

The prosecutor said he asked that the bond be raised in view of the nature of the crime for which Nance is indicted.

The Monroe township man pleaded innocent in arraignment last week.

COUNCIL BANS CANINES FROM GARDEN ROLES

Dog Owners Required To Keep Pets Out Of Victory Plots

FINES TO BE ASSESSED

Cooperation Of Police And County Warden Urged For Program

Circleville council took a role in the Victory Garden campaign Wednesday evening when it voted an ordinance under suspension of rules fixing penalties to be assessed against persons who permit their dogs to run over neighboring properties, thus damaging gardens.

The ordinance was prepared at the request of the Pickaway county Victory Garden committee headed by Robert L. Brehmer. It was given a first reading and passed immediately, all members voting their support.

Under the ordinance, fines of $5 to $25 may be assessed by Mayor Ben H. Gordon against persons who permit their dogs to run wild. Cooperation of the police department and the county dog warden is also asked in an effort to control canines which damage gardens.

Council Thanked

Mr. Brehmer attended the council meeting and thanked the city officials for their cooperation.

Council's session Wednesday was one of its longest in many months, a 90-minute recess for discussion of various problems sending the meeting past 10:30 o'clock.

Rate of pay for special nurses at Berger hospital was boosted in an effort to attract more persons to the list available for service. Mrs. Bess Koehleiser, new superintendent at Berger, attended her first council meeting and discussed various measures with council for improvement of the institution.

The pay for special nurses was boosted from 50 cents an hour to 75 cents, this increase being sufficient to obtain more nurses during busy periods.

No special nurse, however, may be paid more than $27.50 a week, the regular rate for nurses to become effective after that amount is reached.

Hospital Ward Approved

Council was informed by Safety Director E. W. Weiler that state board of health certificate approving the hospital's new maternity ward has been received. The hospital had operated its maternity ward since its opening in 1939 without a state license. Separation of the delivery room and maternity ward resulted in approval of the license.

Hospital's report for the quarter beginning January 1 and ending March 31 was read, collections being reported at $7,935.13 and expenses at $7,025.83 with accounts receivable reported at $881.89. The quarter was nearer an even break in expenses and collections than any quarter in the hospital's history.

During the three months there were 177 persons admitted, 226 treated, 1,119 days of care, 57 births, five deaths and 23 operations.

Delinquent sewage disposal accounts, totaling $764, were certified to County Auditor Forrest Short to be placed on the tax duplicate, this amount being delinquent for a year.

Council also asked the county auditor for an advance of $1,500 on its tax settlement. Tax distribution is expected to be conducted before May 1, the city expecting $1,500 to take care of its needs until that time.

Parking Meters Pay

Report made to council of parking meter collections since the devices were installed March 10, 1942, shows that $9,111.05 has been put into the machines, of which $6,887.59 has been paid the meter company. There are about 180 meters in operation.

Under a contract with the meter company the city may buy the devices at a later date, money paid to the firm being counted as part of the purchase price.

Council was told that despite gasoline rationing and other restrictive measures meter revenues have fallen only slightly.

An ordinance establishing the job of meter service man, held the last three months by Abe Greenlee, was passed after a state examiner checking local accounts found that while the job was filled it has never been established according to law.

Mayor Collects Fines

Mayor Ben H. Gordon reported collections of $200.70 during March, $51 as fines, $3.70 as costs and $141 in bonds. All $51 of fines was from highway patrol cases, the money to be used for street repair purposes only.

City's funds in all accounts total $27,034.05, the report read by W. E. Wallace, acting finance chairman, shows. The breakdown lists general, $438.61; library, $2,967.32; auto street repair, $7,708.41; gasoline tax, $6,271.99; hospital, $1,226.57 and sewage disposal, $8,421.15.

Pay rates for special policemen and firemen were approved by council, pay for policemen to be $3 for an eight hour day and for firemen $7 for a 24-hour day.

Consider Claim

Council engaged in a lengthy discussion of a claim for $300 to be paid Miller Fissell, former traffic officer, for use of his motorcycle during 1940, 1941 and 1942. An ordinance providing payment was read for the first time, but an effort to suspend rules and pass it immediately failed when Councilmen George Crites and Boyd Horn voted against the measure. Councilmen Don Mason, Julius Helwig and W. E. Wallace were for suspension of rules, and W. M. Reid not voting.

Question of a verbal contract between Mr. Fissell and Karl J. Herrmann, who was safety director at the time, has caused council to delay paying the account.

Members of the fire department sent an appeal to council Wednesday evening urging that they be put on a pay schedule similar to that operating for police. The letter said that in past years the two departments were paid the same wages and worked the same hours but that the last few years police have received pay boosts and reductions in hours while firemen have not received either. The latter cites the fact that it costs as much for members of one department to live as it does another.

Firemen receive $115 and policemen $125, the chief of each department drawing $135, the police chief receiving part of costs received by the mayor.

The letter to council was signed by Talmer Wise, chief; Noble E. Barr, Ray Anderson, Dan Eitel, Robert Wolf and Fred Howell. The question was referred to the finance committee.

LOCAL DISTRICT OF GAS COMPANY WINS CONTEST

Athens district of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., of which the Circleville office is a part, won an Ohio district War Bond and Stamp sales contest conducted from December 28 through March 15.

Dan McClain, local manager, was informed Wednesday of the district's high rating, a letter from the company thanking the local office for the work it did during the campaign.

Despite the end of the contest, the Gas company is continuing its efforts to sell Bonds and Stamps.

COURT INCREASES BOND FOR CONEY FRED NANCE

Judge Meeker Terwilliger, acting on a motion filed by Prosecutor George E. Gerhardt, boosted the bond of Coney Fred Nance, Monroe township, from $500 to $1,000 in common pleas court Wednesday. Nance is charged with a statutory offense involving a daughter.

The prosecutor said he asked that the bond be raised in view of the nature of the crime for which Nance is indicted.

The Monroe township man pleaded innocent in arraignment last week.

Gert and Freki are the wolves of Odin. They lie at his feet as he is seated on his throne in Valhalla, ready to feast with his chosen heroes. Odin himself needs no food, so he gives all the meat that is set before him to his wolves.

CHILD SLAIN BY NEIGHBOR BOY

ASSAULT AND SLAYING of four-year-old Theresa Williams, left above, has been confessed by Earl Perry, 17, a neighbor, right, according to Pittsburgh police. Police said that Perry told them he strangled the girl, assaulted her and buried her under three feet of earth in the basement of his home. (International Soundphoto)

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

After that Western thriller at the movies, Ben Ryder says: "You know, the West wasn't all like that. While the gun-play was goin' on—respectable folks were weeding out undesirable elements... red-eye saloons and gambling joints."

And Ben's right. There's a spirit in America that's always working for a better community. Take that "clean-up or close-up" program of the brewing industry, for instance. Its whole purpose is to see that beer is sold only in clean, respectable places.

Everybody benefits from co-operation like that—even folks who want Prohibition back. Because those beer folks are working for the same thing—a decent, law-abiding community.

From where I sit—the way isn't to pass more laws, but to enforce the ones we've got—and rely on America's spirit of tolerance and cooperation.

Had they been soaked in youth in the ideals of Washington and Jefferson, life for the world today might have been different. This is the month when the two-hundredth anniversary of the birth of Jefferson is celebrated. It is appropriate to contemplate his work, both in deeds and in words. For example:

"Young as we are, and with such a country before us to fill with people and with happiness, we should point in that direction the whole generative force of nature, wasting none of it in efforts of mutual destruction. It should be our endeavor to cultivate the peace and friendship of every nation, even of that which has injured us most, when we shall have carried our point against her. Our interest will be to open the doors of commerce, and to knock off all its shackles, giving perfect freedom to all persons for the want of whatever they may choose to bring into our ports, and asking the same in theirs."

"This I hope, will be our wisdom."
When people begin to feel a little sorry for poor Germany, it's well to remember about the false arithmetic. ## 'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE.... Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to a morning of chill wind, rain, near sleet and now and then a little sunshine. Maybe the weatherman is not impressed by my desire for real Spring and Summer weather. Ventured in the back yard and saw a half dozen onions springing up from the sets I planted. Surprised no end. Now, if I can get a couple of radishes and a leaf or two of lettuce I'll feel as proud as the commander of the British Eighth Army. I'm giving practically everything a chance to grow in that garden—beets, carrots, beans, peas, spinach, cabbage, tomatoes and a liberal sprinkling of etcetera.

There goes Dan McClain who is doing such a great job as director of the salvage effort in the county. Here come Earl Smith and Clark Will full of plans for the great bond drive to open April 12. Practically everyone assisting the war effort in some manner, and doing the work gratis. Who says we are not war conscious hereabouts?

And who can be critical in face of the fact that citizens of the ville alone have given something more than 16,000 hours to war effort participation in the last twelve months? All volunteered and without recompense. That's a total of more than 2,000 full days. Doubt it? Well, consider the time donated in draft and ration registration, time spent by the Civilian Defense Council and Ration Board. Each member of the OCD spent 25 or more hours receiving special training to qualify to help you in the event of an emergency. Yes, we appear to be playing our part in the war.

These women! Just when I thought my purse was entitled to some kind of championship along comes a member of the fair sex and makes it look like a piker. Here's an inventory of her purse: Lipstick, vanity case, handkerchief, comb, mirror, pencil, bobby pins, two safety pins, postage stamps, note book, four keys—home, office, car and gas tank—six ration books, Civilian Defense arm band, nail file, driver's license, one billfold containing two gasoline ration books, health and accident insurance identification cards, automobile insurance identification card, membership card of Public

Lady, what you need is a trailer.

Met George McDowell, he being in deep study of the problem of a successor for J. O. Eagleston, executive secretary of the draft board. What a job that is! You can have it, cousin.

Talked to several who noted the vapor trails of pursuit ships in a dog-fight over the city. So high that the planes could not be seen at all, but their trails were visible. And what a show they staged for almost half an hour.

Chatted with Mayor Ben and stood in awe as an army convoy passed through the city. They really passed through with a lieutenant giving the "double quick" sign to each car as it drove in sight. Probably on a timed test run.

Don't go away from home on the night of April 15 and leave the lights burn. A blackout is scheduled for sometime during the evening and regulations will be enforced. All lights must be out. To forget might prove costly.

"Sis' boy friend is teaching me how to be a soldier. I'm on guard duty out here for two hours!"

DIET AND HEALTH

Bad Eating Habits Lead To Deficiency Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
LAST SUMMER I was surprised to hear from the director of a large clinic that is devoted to digestive and nutritional disorders that he found deficiency disease more frequently in those in the upper income brackets than among those of moderate means. This experience is confirmed by a report from two Philadelphia physicians. They deliberately selected patients who were in the upper income group, gave them a questionnaire about their diet, had them take it home and put down what they ate at every meal and then return from week to week and have these questionnaires checked as to what materials they made their salad dressings with, the amount of sugar and cream they used in their coffee, and the like.

Startling Results
The results are startling: 74 per cent of the patients showed a deficiency in total food intake, some of them as much as 50 per cent. In only one particular kind of food did this group regularly show an excess intake and that was in the use of fats: 88 per cent of them got too much fat—on the average about 20 per cent too much.

Thirty per cent of the patients took less protein than scientific dietetics believes is the proper ration.

In nearly all the diets the vitamins were deficient, the largest amount being in the B group. There was a slight mineral deficiency in calcium, phosphorus and iron, and some water deficiency.

Sixty-nine per cent of the patients were short on roughage, which indicates why this country uses so many cathartics.
A Theoretical Basis
I think it should be explained, however, that the vitamin deficiency is calculated on a basis of the amounts they ought to have, a basis which I believe is theoretical; in other words, one which I do not believe is sufficiently well-established scientifically to make this part of the report alarming.

None of these patients were under medical supervision, and in spite of the fact that twenty of

It appears that even when people can afford they are not under direct medical supervision they leave out milk, eggs, whole wheat and enriched grain products too frequently from their diet. This class tends to swing from being overweight to a conscientious fear that they should diet. When you catch them doing their dieting, they take less than they need. Answer: The adhesive tape will not remove the wrinkles and it is probable that he is right—that continued use of it will cause worse wrinkles.

The BLIND MAN'S SECRET

by RICHARD HOUGHTON
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:
Everyone thought Agatha Brown was an old maid, but she had been married for 25 years to Professor Otto Halder of Western college. She had left him in World War I because she learned he was a traitor.
The girl she called her niece, Cleomantine, was really her daughter. Not even Cleomantine knew it.
Now, in World War II, Agatha goes back to the college and finds the professor has been murdered. He had perfected a radio-controlled aerial torpedo. Estella Blossom, a student who claims she was engaged to marry the professor, accuses Cleomantine of the crime as the police interview the women outside the professor's dormitory room.
Agatha goes down the hall to telephone, is taken prisoner in the dark by an unseen man and forced to accompany him to the basement, where he tries to make her tell him what she has done with a missing radio tube, last vital part of the invention the foreign spies seek.
A blind student discovers Agatha and comes to her rescue. To help him she breaks the only electric light in the basement. He and her captor face each other in darkness.
(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN
OUT OF THE thick darkness came Willard's gasp of relief. "Thanks! Now that his eyes can't help him, I have the advantage."
The kidnaper cursed. "I have a knife. You are unarmed."
"But you are afraid of me now. You feel as I felt when darkness first came to me. It is frightening. It makes you feel helpless. You think I am coming closer, closer!"
"Stand back!"
The blind boy laughed. "Merely a trick of raising my voice. Miss Brown, have you freed both your hands?"
"Just a moment. There! That's the last rope."
"Good! Follow me, but not too closely. I'll have you out of here in a hurry."
"You will not!" the kidnaper told them. "I am standing at the bottom of the ladder."
"Thanks for locating yourself for me—although I didn't really need the help." The blind boy walked boldly forward, and Agatha, her heart pounding with apprehension, followed his footsteps, on tiptoe.
"I know where you are, as surely as though I could see you," her rescuer said to the man who threatened them. "And I now have the basin of acid in my hands! I am going to throw it!"
"No!"
"Then get out of here!"
The kidnaper's feet clattered and stumbled up the stairs. The trap door creaked open overhead.
They were alone in the basement, but the spy was not yet defeated. He slammed the door shut to imprison them. Agatha heard him dragging a desk on top of it to hold it down.
"How are we going to get out?" she gasped.
"Don't worry about that. Are you hurt?"
"I'm all right. Suppose he gets a light and comes back?"
"Well, signal to someone first. I'll put the bowl of acid back on the table. There! Now, where's the little window through which I heard you talking? Luckily my ears have been developed to take the place of my eyes."
Agatha felt her way to the wall and reached up, exploring along the rough cement with her hands. "Here it is. He put a board over it. I'll lift it off. It's just hooked over the grating with a nail—or something."
"Good! Now here's a match. I don't like to strike them. Light this piece of paper and hold it outside. The federal men who are guarding the building will come to investigate."
Agatha did as directed, and was surprised at the speed with which a guard appeared at the ventillator, gun in hand. Willard, in spite of his blindness, had approached the ventillator unseen.
A few breathless words of explanation—and a few minutes later the desk was being pulled off the trap door, and they were out.
Cleomantine, who came downstairs with Lieutenant Larkey, met them in the hall. She was almost hysterical.
"Auntie! Where have you been?"
"Kidnaped—apparently by someone who is after Professor Halder's secret. I'm all right now."
Larkey exclaimed excitedly, "Who was he? What did he look like? My men have arrived and the building is surrounded. He can't get away."
"I can't describe him. I saw him for only a moment. He was of medium height, dark eyes, I think—and dreadfully strong."
"Look out!" cried Cleomantine. "She's going to faint!"
Agatha didn't faint, but her knees caved under her. She collapsed into the arms of a student. "So—so silly," she sniffed against his shoulder. He was young enough to be her son.
He grinned. "Here's a handkerchief."
She pulled away. "I don't need a handkerchief! I must thank the boy who saved me. That was the bravest action I've ever seen. Where is he?"
Willard came toward her out of the trap door room, with the uncertain step of a blind man—or was it just the reluctance of modesty?
"Really, Miss Brown, there was nothing so brave about it. I was scared to death."
The lieutenant seemed suddenly to wake up to what had happened.

HULL GIVING UP REINS

WASHINGTON — It won't be announced, and may even be denied, but for all practical purposes we now have a new secretary of state.

Cordell Hull, over 70, having given 40 valiant and fruitful years to public service, gradually is stepping aside.

Looking out of his window upon the magnolia trees, gorgeous in the Spring, Hull thinks back to the days when he was a circuit judge in Tennessee, then a member of Congress; to the days when he helped pioneer the first income tax law; to the fight he made against the sky-high, disastrous tariffs of the Smoot-Hawley days; and to his briefer career in the Senate.

Looking back over that vista, Hull has thought many times he might retire. But two chief things have held him on. One is his ambition to see his trade treaties continued and renegotiated (this bill is now pending in Congress). The other is Mrs. Hull, who, nursing his strength carefully, is determined that he not resign.

Hull frequently finds, however, that he simply does not have the physical strength to carry on. The daily grind is too much and he absents himself a part of each week. Last year he was forced to spend a total of six months away from Washington.

THE NEW SECRETARY OF STATE

As a result of these absences and the fact that Mr. Hull moves more slowly now, the President has found himself calling upon Undersecretary Sumner Welles, who has now virtually become Secretary of State. More and more frequently now, when the President picks up the telephone he calls Welles instead of Hull. He finds that Welles has the facts at his finger-tips and works faster.

Hull's answers of late have grown more vague. This is partly his cautious temperament, partly age. Once Hull was proud of the fact that he was the only member of the cabinet maintaining daily contact with the press. But now sometimes a week goes by without a press conference.

All of the recent speeches have been made by Welles, which makes the old gentlemen a bit touchy. In fact he wondered why it was that Welles rather than he was asked to speak for the State Department in the Harold-Tribune Forum. The answer was that the President specifically requested Welles to do the job.

But the secretary is determined to stick it out until the last horn blows—and he may be able to continue.

CLAUDE WICKARD—IN OR OUT?

Two men from Coon Rapids, Iowa, met in Washington seven weeks ago and made a bet about the demise of Claude Wickard as a Cabinet officer.

Said A. E. "Red" Bowman, sugar expert of the WPB: "Wickard is on the skids; he won't last till the first of May." Said corn farmer Bob Garst, "I admit (Continued on Page Eight)

Bad Eating Habits Lead To Deficiency Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

LAST SUMMER I was surprised to hear from the director of a large clinic that is devoted to digestive and nutritional disorders that he found deficiency disease more frequently in those in the upper income brackets than among those of moderate means. This experience is confirmed by a report from two Philadelphia physicians. They deliberately selected patients who were in the upper income group, gave them a questionnaire about their diet, had them take it home and put down what they ate at every meal and then return from week to week and have these questionnaires checked as to what materials they made their salad dressings with, the amount of sugar and cream they used in their coffee, and the like.

Startling Results
The results are startling: 74 per cent of the patients showed a deficiency in total food intake, some of them as much as 50 per cent. In only one particular kind of food did this group regularly show an excess intake and that was in the use of fats: 88 per cent of them got too much fat—on the average about 20 per cent too much.

Thirty per cent of the patients took less protein than scientific dietetics believes is the proper ration. In nearly all the diets the vitamins were deficient, the largest amount being in the B group. There was a slight mineral deficiency in calcium, phosphorus and iron, and some water deficiency.

Sixty-nine per cent of the patients were short on roughage, which indicates why this country uses so many cathartics.

A Theoretical Basis
I think it should be explained, however, that the vitamin deficiency is calculated on a basis of the amounts they ought to have, a basis which I believe is theoretical; in other words, one which I do not believe is sufficiently well-established scientifically to make this part of the report alarming. None of these patients were under medical supervision, and in spite of the fact that twenty of them were physicians, it must be concluded that ignorance was the cause of bad eating habits in most cases. It appears that even when people can afford to eat whatever they want, when they are not under direct medical supervision they leave out milk, eggs, whole wheat and enriched grain products too frequently from their diet. This class tends to swing from being overweight to a conscientious fear that they should diet. When you catch them doing their dieting, they take less than they need. When, with a sigh of relief, they find the scales have them in normal limits, they plunge on fats.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. M. R.: A friend told my husband that he should, to eliminate the wrinkles in his cheeks, put adhesive tape on them overnight. He did this but decided that the adhesive tape would only weaken the muscles and cause greater sagging. Is this true?

Answer: The adhesive tape will not remove the wrinkles and it is probable that he is right—that continued use of it will cause worse wrinkles.

The BLIND MAN'S SECRET

by RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Everyone thought Agatha Brown was an old maid, but she had been secretly married for 25 years to Professor Otto Halder of Western college. She had left him in World War I because she learned he was a traitor.

The girl she called her niece, Clemantine, was really her daughter. Not even Clemantine knew it. Agatha goes back to the college and finds the professor has been murdered. He had perfected a radio-controlled aerial torpedo. Estella Blossom, a student who claims she was engaged to marry the professor, accuses Clemantine of the crime as the police interview the woman outside the professor's dormitory room.

Agatha goes down the hall to telephone, is taken prisoner in the dark by an unseen man, and forced to accompany him to the basement, where he tries to make her tell him what she has done with a missing radio tube, last vital part of the invention the foreign spies seek.

A blind student discovers Agatha and comes to her rescue. To help him she breaks the only electric light in the basement. He and her captor face each other in darkness.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

OUT OF THE thick darkness came Willard's gasp of relief. "Thanks! Now that his eyes can't help him, I have the advantage."

The kidnaper cursed. "I have a knife. You are unarmed."

"But you are afraid of me now. You feel as I felt when darkness first came to me. It is frightening. It makes you feel helpless. You think I am coming closer, closer!"

"Stand back!"

The blind boy laughed. "Merely a trick of raising my voice. Miss Brown, have you freed both your hands?"

"Just a moment. There! That's the last rope."

"Good! Follow me, but not too closely. I'll have you out of here in a hurry."

"You will not!" the kidnaper told them. "I am standing at the bottom of the ladder."

"Thanks for locating yourself for me—although I didn't really need the help." The blind boy walked boldly forward, and Agatha, her heart pounding with apprehension, followed his footsteps, on tiptoe.

"I know where you are, as surely as though I could see you," her rescuer said to the man who threatened them. "And—I now I have the basin of acid in my hands! I am going to throw it!"

"No!"

"Then get out of here!"

The kidnaper's feet clattered and stumbled up the stairs. The trap door creaked open overhead.

They were alone in the basement, but the spy was not yet defeated. He slammed the door shut to imprison them. Agatha heard him dragging a desk on top of it to hold it down.

"How are we going to get out?" she gasped.

"Don't worry about that. Are you hurt?"

"I'm all right. Suppose he gets a light and comes back?"

"We'll signal to someone first. I'll put the bowl of acid back on the table. There! Now, where's the little window through which I heard you talking? Luckily my ears have been developed to take the place of my eyes."

Agatha felt her way to the wall and reached up, exploring along the rough cement with her hands.

"Here it is. He put a board over it. I'll lift it off. It's just hooked over the grating with a nail—or something."

"Good! Now here's a match. I don't like to strike them. Light this piece of paper and hold it outside. The federal men who are guarding the building will come to investigate."

Agatha did as directed, and was surprised at the speed with which a guard appeared at the ventilator, gun in hand. Willard, in spite of his blindness, had approached the ventilator unseen.

A few breathless words of explanation—and a few minutes later the desk was being pulled off the trap door, and they were out.

Clemantine, who came downstairs with Lieutenant Larkey, met them in the hall. She was almost hysterical.

"Auntie! Where have you been?"

"Kidnaped—apparently by someone who is after Professor Halder's secret. I'm all right now."

Larkey exclaimed excitedly. "Who was he? What did he look like? My men have arrived and the building is surrounded. He can't get away."

"I can't describe him. I saw him for only a moment. He was of medium height, dark eyes, I think—and dreadfully strong."

"Look out!" cried Clemantine. "She's going to faint!"

Agatha didn't faint, but her knees caved under her. She collapsed into the arms of a student. "Go—so silly," she sniffed against his shoulder. He was young enough to be her son.

He grinned. "Here's a handkerchief."

She pulled away. "I don't need a handkerchief! I must thank the boy who saved me. That was the bravest action I've ever seen. Where is he?"

Willard came toward her out of the trap door room, with the uncertain step of a blind man—or was it just the reluctance of modesty?

"Really, Miss Brown, there was nothing so brave about it. I was scared to death."

The lieutenant seemed suddenly to wake up to what had happened.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

Space Saving in the Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

VICTORY gardeners anxious to make use of a limited space should plan companion cropping and succession cropping for a maximum harvest of vegetables.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden Graph, companion cropping is a method of making use of the same soil area for a long and short season crop simultaneously. Root crops, such as turnips, parsnips, beets and carrots, which require a long growing period are planted alternately with early maturing vegetables, such as green onions, lettuce and spinach. Plant the root crops in rows two feet apart and the rows of early vegetables in between so that all the rows will be one foot apart. The early group of vegetables will mature before the late crop group is large enough to need all of the row space.

Succession cropping, as illustrated, involves planting a late-maturing vegetable where an earlier vegetable has already matured and been harvested. It is not wise to replant the same crop, but to plan an early variety, followed by a late variety. The best method is to follow an above ground crop, such as lettuce, with a below ground crop such as beets.

Stella Mae Skinner and James L. Groce Married

Ceremony Read At Church In California

In a double ring ceremony April 2 in the First Presbyterian church of Monterey, California, Miss Stella Mae Skinner, daughter of Mrs. Zelma Skinner of 627 South Court street, became the bride of First Sergeant James L. Groce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Groce of 447 East Main street. First Sergeant Groce is a member of the 4th Signal Company, U. S. Army, and is stationed at Fort Ord, Cal.

For her wedding, Miss Skinner chose a smart Spring outfit of powder blue faille with navy and white accessories, and wore a corset of white gardenias. After a lovely program of organ music, the Rev. Stewart Campbell Potter read the wedding service by candlelight at 7:30 p. m. E. Herbert Santee of Del Monte, Cal., a close friend of the bridegroom, gave Miss Skinner in marriage.

Calla lilies beautifully decorated the altar banked in green, and tall white tapers burned in four cathedral candelabra.

Mrs. Santee was the bride's only attendant and Technical Sergeant John L. Noggle of 546 East Main street, a life-long friend of the bridegroom, served him as best man. Tech. Sgt. Noggle is stationed in California. Mrs. Santee wore Transvaal daisies with her becoming frock of gold and brown print. Blue lupine and California wild flowers formed the colorful decorations of the Santee home where an informal reception followed the wedding services.

Candles in antique silver holders lighted the bride's table which was covered with a flit lace cloth. The bride's cake was decorated with yellow rose buds and the large wedding cake was topped with miniature slippers encircled with flowers and love birds.

After a short wedding trip to Carmel, Cal., the newlyweds will live in Pacific Grove. A Circleville high school graduate in the class of 1941, the former Miss Skinner was an employee of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company of Columbus before leaving for the West.

First Sergeant Groce was graduated in 1938 from Circleville high school and has been in army service for about three years.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

Space Saving in the Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

VICTORY gardeners anxious to make use of a limited space should plan companion cropping and succession cropping for a maximum harvest of vegetables.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden Graph, companion cropping is a method of making use of the same soil area for a long and short season crop simultaneously. Root crops, such as turnips, parsnips, beets and carrots, which require a long growing period are planted alternately with early maturing vegetables, such as green onions, lettuce and spinach. Plant the root crops in rows two feet apart and the rows of early vegetables in between so that all the rows will be one foot apart. The early group of vegetables will mature before the late crop group is large enough to need all of the row space.

Succession cropping, as illustrated, involves planting a late-maturing vegetable where an earlier vegetable has already matured and been harvested. It is not wise to replant the same crop, but to plan an early variety, followed by a late variety. The best method is to follow an above ground crop, such as lettuce, with a below ground crop such as beets.

DINAH TO LEAVE

Dinah Shore, radio's top songstress, leaves the Eddie Cantor program in June. Plans are in the making for a variety show built around the blues singer in the Fall. Meantime she will be starred in two films this Summer.

NAVY MEN APPEAR

Two musicians now in the U. S. Navy will be heard on the Andre Kostelanetz program on CBS Sunday, April 11, at 3:30 p. m. They are Arthur Whittmore and Jack Lowe, duo-pianists. Another Kostelanetz guest will be Grace Moore, the Metropolitan Opera soprano.

F. D. R. AIDS KATE

Kate Smith's appearance in "This Is the Army" is at the suggestion of President Roosevelt. When the nation's Chief Executive saw "This Is the Army" on the stage, he said there was only one thing wrong with it: Kate Smith ought to be in it to sing "God Bless America." And, that's exactly what she'll be doing when you finally see the soldier hit on the screen.

MARX, BENNETT

Glamour comes to Groucho Marx when Joan Bennett, the appealing picture star, visits his "Blue Ribbon Town" program on WBNS 9:15 p. m. Saturday. Music is batonned by Robert Armbruster.

"WOMAN OF THE YEAR"

There'll be standing room only around your radio when Spencer Tracy and Katherine Hepburn, that dynamic twosome of the screen, recreate their original film roles in "Woman of the Year" on the "Screen Guild Players" program over WBNS at 9 p. m. Monday.

J. EDGAR HOOVER

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will discuss "The Security of War Information" when he appears as guest speaker on "Mr. District Attorney," on Wednesday, April 14, at 8:30 p. m. His talk will tie in with the distribution of a government booklet on the subject, which will be given to every family having close relatives in the armed services. Further emphasizing the importance of preserving the secrecy of vital information, Jerry Devine, author-producer of the "Mr. District Attorney" series, has prepared a script dealing with a

CHINESE VIEW CARROLL ALCOTT AS REAL FRIEND

Citation Won For Radio
Work In Far East
Despite Death Threat

SCOFFS AT JAPANESE

Commentator Remains 14
Months After Tokyo
Orders Assassination

Carroll D. Alcott, Far Eastern observer for station WLW, Cincinnati, who will be the principal speaker at the Second War Loan drive campaign meeting in Memorial Hall next Monday evening, is held in high esteem by the government of free China. This was revealed by Hollington K. Tong, Chinese minister of information, who accompanied Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of China's famed generalissimo, to this country.

Commenting on Alcott's work as a radio commentator, both in China and the United States, Mr. Tong declared: "Carroll Alcott has built up a place for himself which no one can challenge."

Cited By Chiang
Mr. Alcott also has a citation from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek himself. The commentator received this distinction in the Summer of 1940 when, under difficulties imposed by the Japanese and their puppets, the commentator remained on the air at Shanghai after Jap-employed Chinese gunmen and bomb tossers had been given orders to kill him.

Through their puppets, the Japs had demanded that Alcott leave the country or stay and be killed. He stayed, remaining in China until shortly before Pearl Harbor. That was more than 14 months after the Japs had given orders to liquidate him.

It was during this time that Generalissimo Chiang cited Alcott for his work as a newspaperman and radio commentator in China.

Ignores Death Threat
"Though being under what virtually amounted to a death sentence was not exactly pleasant," Alcott declared, "I had become so accustomed to being harassed by the Japanese and their puppets that a few threats more or less were just a part of the routine. Life would have been rather dull without them."

Since returning to the United States Mr. Alcott has been active in broadcasting discussions of Far Eastern affairs. He has won a large radio audience and is recognized as a leading authority on the Orient.

Mr. Alcott has just completed a book on his experiences with the Japanese which will soon be published under the title, "My War With Japan."

Fights Japan

"Though the title of my book may sound ambitious," Alcott declares, "It is justified because of the personal nature of my fight with the Japanese in China. I was a target for their bombing, they invaded my newspaper, the China Press, and killed my linotype operators and one of my best friends, an American sea-captain, Tug Wilson. They bombed the radio station from which I broadcast, sent their gunmen to kill me, but we shot first and got their gunmen."

When in Circleville Mr. Alcott will conduct his regular broadcast, arrangements being made for his radio talk to be sent from this city.

Leaders of the Second War Loan drive campaign are getting plans completed for the drive in which Pickaway county will be asked to raise $1,611,000. Committees are being set up by the organization headed by Clark Will and everything will be set when the drive opens on a nation wide scale April 12.

DOG BITE RAISED QUITE A FUSS

OBJECT OF A SEARCH by Army and health authorities for nearly a week, Pvt. Terentino Scarpino, 25, has reported that he was the soldier bitten in Pittsburgh by a rabid dog, but that the animal's teeth had not pierced the skin. Witnesses had reported the incident and the dog was found to be suffering from rabies, but no one knew who the soldier was until Scarpino heard through newspapers and radio broadcasts that he was being sought. He is pictured showing the leg which the dog bit to his mother.

Garden Organization Cheers City Council's Curb on Roving Rovers

Pickaway county Victory Garden organization today cheered the action of city council Wednesday evening in passing an ordinance protecting gardens from damage caused by dogs.

R. L. Brehmer, Victory Garden chairman, pointed out Thursday that all dogs must be confined to the premises of the owner or under his control, such as being on leash.

Under state law all dogs must be licensed and the license displayed on a collar or other device.

Victory Gardeners should call the county dog warden, Mr. Brehmer said, to dispose of all dogs not having or displaying a license tag. The owners of dogs having licenses and damaging Victory Gardens will be subject to fines of from $5 to $25 dollars, when an affidavit is sworn out against them in police court.

A letter is being sent by Victory Gardeners to the county commissioners asking their cooperation in having the county dog warden dispose of the tramp dogs in town. These are the dogs that do most of the damage since they live out of garbage cans of the neighborhood and have regular paths through lawns and gardens.

Members of city council were congratulated by Victory Garden organization by their thoughtfulness in providing protection to the efforts of local Victory Gardeners.

CHINESE VIEW
CARROLL ALCOTT
AS REAL FRIEND

Citation Won For Radio
Work In Far East
Despite Death Threat

SCOFFS AT JAPANESE

Commentator Remains 14
Months After Tokyo
Orders Assassination

Carroll D. Alcott, Far Eastern observer for station WLW, Cincinnati, who will be the principal speaker at the Second War Loan drive campaign meeting in Memorial Hall next Monday evening, is held in high esteem by the government of free China. This was revealed by Hollington K. Tong, Chinese minister of information, who accompanied Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of China's famed generalissimo, to this country.

Commenting on Alcott's work as a radio commentator, both in China and the United States, Mr. Tong declared: "Carroll Alcott has built up a place for himself which no one can challenge."

Cited By Chiang
Mr. Alcott also has a citation from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek himself. The commentator received this distinction in the Summer of 1940 when, under difficulties imposed by the Japanese and their puppets, the commentator remained on the air at Shanghai after Jap-employed Chinese gunmen and bomb throwers had been given orders to kill him.

Through their puppets, the Japs had demanded that Alcott leave the country or stay and be killed. He stayed, remaining in China until shortly before Pearl Harbor. That was more than 14 months after the Japs had given orders to liquidate him.

It was during this time that Generalissimo Chiang cited Alcott for his work as a newspaperman and radio commentator in China.

Ignores Death Threat
"Though being under what virtually amounted to a death sentence was not exactly pleasant," Alcott declared, "I had become so accustomed to being harassed by the Japanese and their puppets that a few threats more or less were just a part of the routine. Life would have been rather dull without them."

Since returning to the United States Mr. Alcott has been active in broadcasting discussions of Far Eastern affairs. He has won a large radio audience and is recognized as a leading authority on the Orient.

Mr. Alcott has just completed a book on his experiences with the Japanese which will soon be published under the title, "My War With Japan".

Fights Japan
"Though the title of my book may sound ambitious," Alcott declares, "it is justified because of the personal nature of my fight with the Japanese in China. I was a target for their bombing, they invaded my newspaper, the China Press, and killed my linotype operators and one of my best friends, an American sea-captain, Tug Wilson. They bombed the radio station from which I broadcast, sent their gunmen to kill me, but we shot first and got their gunmen."

When in Circleville Mr. Alcott will conduct his regular broadcast, arrangements being made for his radio talk to be sent from this city.

Leaders of the Second War Loan drive campaign are getting plans completed for the drive in which Pickaway county will be asked to raise $1,611,000. Committees are being set up by the organization headed by Clark Will and everything will be set when the drive opens on a nation wide scale April 12.

DOG BITE RAISED QUITE A FUSS

OBJECT OF A SEARCH by Army and health authorities for nearly a week, Pvt. Terentino Scarpino, 25, has reported that he was the soldier bitten in Pittsburgh by a rabid dog, but that the animal's teeth had not pierced the skin. Witnesses had reported the incident and the dog was found to be suffering from rabies, but no one knew who the soldier was until Scarpino heard through newspapers and radio broadcasts that he was being sought. He is pictured showing the leg which the dog bit to his mother.

Garden Organization
Cheers City Council's Curb on Roving Rovers

Pickaway county Victory Garden organization today cheered the action of city council Wednesday evening in passing an ordinance protecting gardens from damage caused by dogs.

R. L. Brehmer, Victory Garden chairman, pointed out Thursday that all dogs must be confined to the premises of the owner or under his control, such as being on leash.

Under state law all dogs must be licensed and the license displayed on a collar or other device.

Victory Gardeners should call the county dog warden, Mr. Brehmer said, to dispose of all dogs not having or displaying a license tag.

The owners of dogs having licenses and damaging Victory Gardens will be subject to fines of from $5 to $25 dollars, when an affidavit is sworn out against them in police court.

A letter is being sent by Victory Gardeners to the county commissioners asking their cooperation in having the county dog warden dispose of the tramp dogs in town. These are the dogs that do most of the damage since they live out of garbage cans and have regular paths through lawns and gardens.

Members of city council were congratulated by Victory Garden organization by their thoughtfulness in providing protection to the efforts of local Victory Gardeners.
